Director’s Notes

Welcome!  My name is Johnathan Luster and I’m in my second year as Director of the Fairport Harding High School Drama Department. I am also a staff member at FHS Schools as the Elementary and High School Intervention Specialist. I have performed in many local theater performances and am currently in the midst of my own rehearsals for Disney’s The Little Mermaid at the Willoughby Fine Arts Association.

Steel Magnolias is an American comedy-drama written in 1987 by Robert Harling. The play is about the strong bond a group of women share in a small town southern community, and how they cope with the death of one of their own. The story is based on Harling’s real life experience of the death of his sister, Susan Harling Robinson, in 1985 due to complications from Type 1 Diabetes. He changed his sister’s name in the story from Susan to Shelby. The play was turned into a movie and has captivated audiences around the world.

This material has stretched our student actresses in new dimensions. With difficult subject matter that hits very close to home with our cast, we are very fortunate to have such dedicated and strong women in these roles. The dialogue is difficult, fast paced and voluminous. It challenges the students to learn and act out an enormous amount of content, portraying characters that are very new and different for them.

Type 1 Diabetes has impacted many families in our small district and specifically one of our cast members who was diagnosed at the age of 5. Our hope is to bring awareness and education to the community and support the fight to find a cure and better treatment for those suffering with this disease. Thank you for joining us and ENJOY the show!
